

Harbinson Mulholland

Not your usual bean counters!

We're delighted that so many of our 50 strong team have been with us for quite some time. That should tell you something about the type of firm we are. Our people really matter to us. We invest heavily in them and surround ourselves with the best.

As our next potential graduate trainee, you could really benefit from our personal one to one on the job training programme in a great working environment. Your role will principally be in the accounts and audit department.

The key services of the firm include accounts and audit, forensic accounting, personal and corporate tax planning, corporate reconstruction, business recovery and insolvency, business advisory, marketing consultancy and financial services through our sister brand, HM Wealth Management.

Our clients include some of Northern Ireland's leading SME's and this is our true focus offering them professional services with practical solutions. Our renowned Forensic Accounting Department works very closely with the legal profession across Northern Ireland.

You will have the opportunity to work with a wide range of clients and a wide range of experts during your time with us and as a futures thinking firm, our approach is to use the preparation of accounts as the foundation to improve and grow our client's businesses.

You should have bags of enthusiasm and a desire for total success in everything you do; in return you would be welcomed to a firm where your contribution really matters.
